Bay Head Police Department / COVID-19 Update

Beginning Tuesday, March 17, 2020, the Bay Head Police Department will be taking certain types of minor calls over the phone. We will not be handling them 1 on 1 in the town Municipal building or responding out to residences. The types of calls may include those that do NOT require an on-scene investigation, evidence to be collected, or otherwise require an officer to respond to the scene. If it is determined that a response by an officer is necessary, we will respond, but officers will be keeping a safe, social distance of 6 feet from you as recommended by the CDC. If any residents are experiencing any symptoms associated with the Corona Virus, officers will not be responding. If that is the case, it is recommended that you contact your healthcare professional via telephone for further instructions. We will ALWAYS respond to motor vehicle crashes on the roadways, crimes of violence, crimes against a person, and any type of calls we deem necessary.

We are doing this in response to COVID-19, commonly known as Novel Coronavirus as it continues to spread globally. The CDC has indicated that COVID-19 is a serious health risk and has reached a worldwide pandemic. The modification of our response protocol is to reduce in-person contact with the public to mitigate the risks associated with person to person transmission of COVID-19. During this difficult time, our quality of service will not change, only our response for this brief time period. It is for everyone’s safety!! We also ask that residents abide by the Governors recommendation to limit unnecessary travel and to stay home between the hours of 8:00pm and 5:00am. Anyone looking for more information regarding COVID-19 can go to ready.gov.
